

Team Driven Into New-Found Kentucky Cave.

While blasting out a hillside on the farm of Mrs. G. D. Chenault, near Falmouth, workmen discovered a large cavern, which may prove a second Mammoth Cave. A team of horses was driven in for a long distance. Barytes is being mined on this farm and a large vein was discovered in the cave, together with nuggets of lead and considerable quartz.

In addition to the thorough course in Pharmacy, Chemistry, Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Mr. Perry is completing a special lecture and laboratory course in Microscopy and Biology under Dr. A. L. Shuter. The date for graduation has been set for May 12th.

He Knows How.

R. E. Maupin, one of the best salesmen that ever carried a grip, and who can sell a Ford machine as easily as he can a barrel of sugar, was in our office the other day and renewed his ad. for that popular car. He informs us that he sold 54 of these cars during 1914, more than a car a week for every week in the year. One of the greatest sales of automobiles ever made has just been contracted for with the Ford Motor Co. by the Allied Armies for war purposes—25,000 touring cars, to be delivered on the Continent within 60 days. This should help make easy the sale of 300,000 cars, the amount necessary for the purchase to participate in the profits.

If Bob could find the prospects, he could sell half that number himself.—Lancaster Record.

MAY LEASE CHAIR FACTORY

Attorney General Approves of Appropriation to Defray Initial Costs of Project.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)

Frankfort, Ky.—With the rejection by the board of prison commissioners of the only bid submitted to them for the labor of prisoners in the state reformatory, steps have been inaugurated to give employment to all the men by the state unless private companies will agree to employ them on contracts of a one-year basis. Under the latter arrangement, 300 of the men have been contracted for by the Reliance Manufacturing Co. in making cheap shirts. It is proposed to employ nearly as many more in a chair factory.

To carry out the chair factory project, the board proposes to lease the chair factory of Charles Irion and engage him as superintendent at a salary and a share of the profits, the lease cost being $1,250. State Auditor Bosworth has received a letter from the board requesting him to issue warrants for $25,000 to defray the initial expense of purchasing stock of the factory. The letter says the board has made a "faithful effort" to get satisfactory bids and has found sufficient funds remaining in the $300,000 appropriation of 1893 he is authorized to draw his warrants for the $25,000 required by the prison board for starting a chair factory at the reformatory, said Attorney General Garnett in an opinion transmitted to Auditor Bosworth.

The Rejection Was Unanimous.
The prison board unanimously rejected the composite bid of the Hope-Montgomery Co. for the labor of prisoners in the Frankfort Reformatory. There were many objections to the proposals, neither the price nor the conditions being satisfactory. The prison commissioners by a unanimous vote decided that it would be best to let the convict labor for long terms.

There are at present 1,249 prisoners in the Reformatory and 644 in the Eddyville penitentiary. Four hundred of the Reformatory prisoners are now under contract to the Hope-Montgomery Co. at 150 cents a day and 250 at 77½ cents. At the Eddyville penitentiary the Reliance Manufacturing Co. is paying 50 cents a day for 175 men and 64½ cents for 75 men; the Kentucky Wipe and Collar Co. is paying 57½ cents for 150 men and the Louisville Broom Co. is paying 75 cents for 75 men.

Illiteracy Campaign in Prisons.
An illiteracy campaign will be waged in the state reformatories to wipe out illiteracy behind prison walls. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, secretary of the illiteracy commission, addressed the convicts recently and secured the consent of nearly every prisoner to aid in the illiteracy campaign. There are only five illiterates in the Reformatory. The campaign will be extended to the penitentiary at Eddyville, and the House of Reform at Greendale. Warden Wells will appoint a committee of three or five prisoners who will co-operate with the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission in plans and methods to give the institution a large share in the illiteracy campaign.

Court of Appeals Affirms Decisions.

Two Jefferson county cases have been affirmed and one reversed by the court of appeals. Judgment in favor of the Swiss Cleaners and Dryers against Meta Riley Fritts, who sued for the renewal of a contract for an interest in the business of the concern, was affirmed, as was the judgment in favor of R. M. Cunningham against the administrators of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, the balance due on a policy on O'Connor's life taken out by his niece, Mary O'Connor. The court said she had no insurable interest in his life.

Lectures in South and East.

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, of the Illiteracy Commission, has been invited to address the Alabama legislature on the illiteracy commission bill. She has also been invited to address the legislatures of North Carolina and South Carolina. She will go to Raleigh, N. C., January 28 and to Baltimore, Md., February 11 to assist in starting the illiteracy campaign.

Enjoins Insurance Commissioner.

The Maryland Casualty Co. has secured a temporary injunction in the state court restraining the Insurance Commissioner from revoking its license to do business in the state. The petition recites that an Eastern Kentucky manufacturing company had a policy of $5,000 indemnity insurance in the company. A workman recovered judgment for $7,500 damages from the corporation. It states that the casualty company is ready to indemnify the company to the extent of $5,000 whenever it pays the judgment, but that Commissioner Clay has demanded that it pay the $5,000 to the injured workman or his attorney, who stand in no contractual relation to it and it asked for the injunction to prevent the commissioner arbitrarily revoking its license on account of its refusal to obey his demand. Commissioner Clay said the manufacturing company has become insolvent, and unless the casualty company pays the money direct to the workman, the latter will be unable to get his money. The Maryland Casualty Co. the petition states, has fifty agencies in Kentucky and does $100,000 worth of business annually in the state.

State Health Officers Re-elected.

The State Board of Health has re-elected Dr. W. L. Helzer, of Bowling Green, State Registrar of Vital Statistics, and Dr. Lillian South, of Bowling Green, State Bacteriologist, each for a term of four years. Dr. D. P. Curry, of St. Charles, is elected Sanitary Inspector, and George B. Zimble, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, is elected Water Analyst to assist Prof. E. H. Mark. Twelve physicians have passed examinations entitling them to practice medicine in the state.

RUSSIANS RETAKE
CITY OF KIELCETwo Armies Deal Heavy Blows
on the Austro-German Troops.

DEEP SNOW ABOUT WARSAW

Weather Conditions Favor the Germans, Delaying the Russian Advance at Some Points—Turks
Check Russ in Caucasus.

By FRANCIS LAVELLE MURRAY.

International News Service Correspondent.
Petrograd, Jan. 25.—While Russian troops are making slow progress against the Germans in northern Poland despite a severe snow storm, and progressing slowly but surely toward Thorn, two more armies in southern Poland are dealing heavy blows to the Austro-German troops. The city of Kielce has been recaptured by the forces of General Ruzski.

Taken by the Germans when their heavy reinforcements threatened to engulf the Russian troops on the east bank of the Pilica river, Pilica was held by them for less than a week. It was evacuated before the advance of two Russian armies, one of which drove its way north of Kielce as far as Lopuzno, while another advanced over the Lysa Gora heights to strengthen the forces opposing the forces opposing the Austrians on the Nida river.

Russ in Rapid Advance.

The rapid advance of these two armies rendered the German positions in and about Kielce untenable and they have fallen back to a front running through Olesno, Kuzelski and Sochima. While the Germans effected their withdrawal in good order, they have been forced back 33 miles. Along the little hills just east of the Pilica river they have mounted guns, apparently intending to make a stand there. While the general interest for the last few days has centered on the north Poland campaign because of the thrilling plunge of the Russian troops to ward Thorn, the gains in South Poland are of vast importance to the Russian army, and the fact that they permit the continuation of the campaign against Cracow, which for ten days had been threatened with failure.

It is Cracow that the Russians want in order to open the campaign against Berlin. Thorn is important, but it is not the gateway to Germany. No attempt has ever been made to disguise the importance of the campaign against Cracow, and the fact that its capture would prove a hard task. Some irresponsible journalists in October sent out dispatches from Petrograd saying the Russian general staff expected to be in Berlin by Christmas. As a general interest for the last few days had centered on the north Poland campaign because of the thrilling plunge of the Russian troops to ward Thorn, the gains in South Poland are of vast importance to the Russian army, and the fact that they permit the continuation of the campaign against Cracow, which for ten days had been threatened with failure.

Snow Hampers Operations.

The same conditions that hampered the fighting west of Warsaw in December now prevail in northern Poland. On the levels the snow is from one to three feet deep and in the valleys it is up to the shoulders of the soldiers. At many points on the front the digging of trenches is useless, as they immediately fill with snow.

These conditions are reacting in favor of the Germans, delaying the Russian advance at some points and giving the Germans time to bring reinforcements up over their railways.

Reports from the Caucasus front indicate that the Turks have succeeded in temporarily checking the Russian advance toward Erzerum. Along the Tcheroch river and south of there fresh Turkish troops have appeared and they are offering desperate resistance to the Russians.

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 25.—Harry R. Thaw's departure from Manchester for Concord was a triumphant one. The slayer of Stanford White rode to the station in a trolley car, and along the route he was greeted by cheers from the townspeople. A delegation of town officials and friends gave him a rousing send-off at the station as he boarded the 10:32 train.

Mrs. Nellie Davidson, his housekeeper, was so affected by Thaw's de-

The British ships suffered only slight injury. So far as known only 123 of the Bluecher's crew of 885 were

CORPORATIONSPeople Politically Free, but Industrial Slaves, Says Boston Lawyer-Reformer.

SEES BUT A SINGLE HOPE

Thinks Industrial Unrest Cannot Be Removed—Necessary Conflict Between Political Liberty and Industrial Absolutism.

New York, Jan. 25.—"Industrial unrest is the necessary conflict between political liberty and industrial absolutism. Politically we are as free as we possibly can be; industrially we are not because of the great power held by the corporations that gives them absolute domination of their workmen. No degree of profit sharing will meet the situation. I don't believe that industrial unrest can be removed,

but there is one hope and that hope is industrial democracy."

These statements were made before the federal commission on industrial relations by Louis D. Brandeis, famous Boston lawyer and industrial reformer, and they summarized his views which have been obtained by long study of conditions here and in Europe.

Mr. Brandeis was the first witness when the commission resumed its inquiry into the Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Sage and Baron de Hirsch foundations and also into the relationship between capital and labor.

Possess Great Power.

The witness said that such corporations as the United States Steel corporation, the "Tobacco Trust" and the "Sugar Trust" possess power so great that labor unions struggle against them in vain.

Mr. Brandeis said that the chief danger from corporations came from their absolute power over their workmen. He said that when profit sharing came on a big scale workmen would also have to be given some of the responsibility.

"They will demand the right to help
direct the business," said the lawyer.
Mr. Brandeis declared that any man in business has no time to be a director in more than one corporation.

Stockholders Should Rule.

"Control of big corporations," said
he, "is usually held by a body of men who hold but little stock. These men feel no responsibility beyond trying to increase the dividends. The fall-ure of the individual stockholders to have a real voice in affairs is in my opinion the worst kind of absentee landlordism."

The witness doubted if legislation
could solve the labor problem and declared that experience has shown that workers for big corporations are seldom in a position to work out their own salvation.
